Contents

9 Foreword to the Second Edition by The New York Women’s Bar Association Foundation
13 Foreword by Scott A. Westfahl
17 Acknowledgments
19 Introduction
23 PART I. Mentoring Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

24 Chapter 1. The Ongoing Evolution of Mentoring
25 Mentoring in the Past
26 Early and Ongoing Challenges to Traditional Mentoring
30 Mentoring Today: Constant Demand, Changing Models
32 Table 1: Traditional and Contemporary Models of Mentoring
34 Sidebar: European Mentoring Model
34 Mentoring as a Strategic Business Advantage
36 Mentoring to Increase Diversity and Inclusion
37 Mentoring in the Future
40 Sidebar: The Rise of State Bar Mentoring Programs
40 The National Legal Mentoring Consortium

41 Chapter 2. Coaching and Sponsorship
42 Table 1: Comparison of Mentors, Sponsors, and Coaches
42 Coaching
43 Comparing Coaches and Mentors
44 Coaching Programs
46 Examples of Lawyer Coaching Programs
47 Sponsorship
49 The Role of Sponsorship in Promoting Diversity and Inclusion
51 Sponsorship Programs
52 Examples of Sponsorship Programs
54 Promoting Sponsorship without a Sponsorship Program
Chapter 10. Mentors and Mentees in Your Mentoring Program

- Characteristics of Good Mentors for Your Program
- Table 1: Characteristics of Good Mentors
- Determining the Right Mentors for Your Program
- Characteristics of Good Mentees for Your Program
- Determining Who Will Be the Mentees in Your Program
- Clearly Defined Roles and Responsibilities of Mentors and Mentees
- Confidentiality
- When Relationship Problems Arise
- Table 2: Measures That Help Mentors and Mentees Prevent Problems in Their Relationship
- Non-participant Envy
- Gender, Sex, and Romantic Entanglements
- Additional Considerations

Chapter 11. Launching and Evaluating the Mentoring Program

- Pilot Program
- Building Support for Your Mentoring Program
- Integrating the Mentoring Program with Other Professional Development Efforts
- Sidebar: Mentoring at Goodwin Procter LLP
- Evaluating Your Mentoring Program
- Table 1: Mentor and Mentee Joint Assessment of Their Mentorship Relationship

Chapter 12. Considerations in Planning Specialized Programs

- Planning Group Mentoring Programs
- Planning Reverse Mentoring Programs
- Planning Sponsorship Programs

Chapter 13. Technology in Mentoring

- Mentee and Mentor Matching
- Orientation and Training
- Facilitating Communication and Collaboration
- Ongoing Support and Enrichment
- Monitoring Participation and Progress
- Program Assessment
- Choosing Mentoring Technologies
PART IV. Mentoring in Settings Other Than Law Firms: State Bar Programs, Corporate Law Departments, Government, and Law Schools

Chapter 14. State Bar Mentoring Programs

The Rise of State Bar Mentoring Programs
Planning, Designing, and Improving State Bar Mentoring Programs
Table 1: Factors to Consider in Creating a State Bar Mentoring Program
Table 2: Administrative and Budgetary Questions to Address When Planning a State Bar Mentoring Program
Program Implementation
Pilot Programs
Measuring Effectiveness of the Program
Appendix: Four State Bar Mentoring Programs

Chapter 15. Mentoring in Corporate Law Departments

Formal In-House Mentoring Programs
Appendix: Lawyers for Empowerment and the Advancement of Diversity (LEAD)

Chapter 16. Mentoring for Government and Public Sector Lawyers

The US Department of Justice (DOJ)
Navy Judge Advocate General Corps Mentoring Program
Mentoring for Public Sector Lawyers

Chapter 17. Mentoring for Law Students

Informal Mentoring for Law Students
Formal Mentoring Programs Sponsored by Law Schools
Sidebar: Mentoring Meets Innovation: Law Without Walls
Addressing the Challenges of Law School Mentoring Programs
Table 1: Common Challenges for Law School Mentoring Programs
Community-based Sources of Mentoring Programs for Law Students
Appendix: Two Contrasting Models of Law School Mentoring Programs

About the Author

About NALP