The NALP Newer Professionals’ Forum (NPF) held February 20-22, 2020 will bring together newer professionals and experienced faculty members for two-and-a-half days in Portland, OR, to focus on the career development of newer professionals in the fields of legal recruitment, law student and lawyer professional development, and career services. Participants will engage in meaningful education tailored to the unique needs and perspectives of newer professionals, including learning about trends facing the legal employment industry and the role NALP plays in member professional development.

“I met so many people at this event who were in my same situation – how great to have a network of people to use as a resource when I need help! I was excited to learn about all the NALP resources available to me – I cannot wait to put those resources to work.”

— 2019 NPF Attendee

Why should I attend this conference?

NPF is the one essential educational conference for anyone with less than four years of experience as a legal career professional. In addition to Management Foundations Programs and one-on-one consulting, this conference provides a framework for understanding counseling skills, competencies and evaluations, summer programs, lateral hiring, associate orientation, public interest counseling, lawyer training programs, diversity and inclusion, and much more! You can count on the Newer Professionals’ Forum to provide you with the skills and tools to ensure that you succeed in your organization.

“The programming was geared right to my level and the courses provided practical tips and takeaways that I could use immediately when I returned to the office. This conference was a great use of my time!”

— 2019 NPF Attendee

Why should I send my new staff member or coworker to NPF?

The Newer Professionals’ Forum will provide attendees with opportunities to learn fundamental skills while growing their professional networks in legal recruitment, lawyer professional development, and career services. Law firms and law schools that send new employees to NPF will immediately see results in increased job proficiency and efficiency. The organization benefits immediately from having a well-educated and well-connected professional staff member.

“I have sent my newer staff members to the NALP Newer Professionals’ Forum every year and I am always amazed at their increased confidence when they return. To gain skills and education as well as their own networks is important to their careers but also adds tremendous value when they return to the office.”

— Supervisor of a 2019 NPF attendee

NALP Meeting Policies

Open Meeting: NALP is committed to the free exchange of information and open meetings at its conferences, and we recognize that there may be differences of opinion during sessions. We rely on our members to respect each other and our invited guests and speakers, and to honor the conventions of civil discourse. Disrespect for any speaker will not be tolerated. In addition to member participants, NALP opens registration to non-members, including program speakers, vendors, and members of the press.

Antitrust Awareness: As members of a professional trade association, NALP members should always bring a heightened awareness of antitrust and anticompetitive risks and behaviors to professional gatherings. NALP’s law school members compete with one another and NALP’s law firm members compete with one another. Accordingly, NALP’s members should avoid entering any sort of agreement or understanding with competitors related to any aspect of competition. However, it is always appropriate for NALP members to discuss information that is not competitively sensitive, such as industry trends, best practices, or the general types of opportunities and challenges that arise in legal recruiting.

No Solicitations: This conference is specially designed to be an open forum for NALP conference attendees. Solicitation is strictly prohibited unless you are an official conference sponsor or vendor. If you are interested in becoming a conference sponsor or vendor, please contact Jay Richards, Senior Director of Operations, Member Services, and Meetings, at jrichards@nalp.org or 202-835-1001.

Consent to Use of Photographic, Video, and/or Audio Materials: Registration and attendance at, or participation in, NALP meetings and other activities constitutes an agreement by the registrant to allow NALP to use and distribute (both now and in the future) the registrant or attendee’s image or voice in photographs, video recordings, electronic and print reproductions, and audio recordings of such events and activities.

Dean Burke will share stories of her career path and the important people she met along the way, and she will discuss how legal career professionals can make an impact on the profession.

MANAGEMENT FOUNDATIONS PROGRAMS
9:00 am – 12:00 pm

Management Foundations for Career Development Professionals

This essential, hands-on workshop is designed for those who are newer to the legal career development profession or those who have acquired new responsibilities for the programs and services of a busy career services office. It’s chock full of tips and advice regarding typical seasonal activities of the career development office and why it takes a year to begin to master the job; the importance of knowing your institution and its constituencies; how to build effective relationships with students and alumni; and how to more effectively meet the career planning and counseling needs of students with diverse backgrounds and goals. Participants and program leaders will share ideas for program planning, professional development training, data collection, and administration. In addition, we will focus on practical tips for coping with the challenge of counseling a stressed student population that is facing shifting economic conditions, heavy student loan debt and new J.D. advantage careers opportunities.

Donna Gerson, Associate Dean of Career Strategies, Drexel University Thomas R. Kline School of Law

Marcia Pennington Shannon, Assistant Dean for Career Strategy, Georgetown University Law Center

Management Foundations for Recruitment Professionals

This hands-on workshop will provide essential training for those who are new to the legal recruitment profession or those who have acquired new responsibilities for the programs and services of a busy recruitment department. The course will offer insight and understanding into the legal recruitment processes using demonstration, lively discussion, and group interaction. The course content and materials will include these and many other topics of importance: legal recruiting basics, the seasons of recruitment, hiring needs, criteria and sources, OCI and in-office interview management, hiring committees, electronic tools, recruiting surveys, lawyer support services, and related professional development issues.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

1:00 – 2:15 pm

CSO Employer Outreach

Employer outreach can take different forms from one career services office to another, depending on your resources, goals, and directives. What should your specific employer outreach efforts look like? This session will outline guidelines and issues to consider when crafting your approach for outreach to a variety of employer types, including large, medium and small firms, government agencies, non-profit organizations, businesses, and the judiciary. Areas covered will include goal setting and implementation, as well as reporting progress and outcomes, and managing expectations with all stakeholders for these activities.

Jennifer Henfey, Assistant Dean for Career Strategy and Advancement, Villanova University Charles Widger School of Law

Planning and Managing Standout Summer Programs

A truly standout summer associate program should accomplish two things: First, the program should provide summer associates with the building blocks to prepare for what they will experience as first-year associates. This requires engaging them with representative work, providing tailored training opportunities, and offering meaningful contact with lawyers across practice groups and levels. Second, a summer program should provide the employer an opportunity to assess a student’s likelihood of success within the firm. This involves extensive interaction and evaluation of their work. The purpose of this session is to help you accomplish these goals while successfully marketing your firm to summer associates.

Sarah Bergen, Senior Legal Recruiting Manager, Sidley Austin LLP

Karl Riehl, Director of Practice Management, Epstein Becker & Green, P.C.

Student Counseling Fundamentals

The pathways to careers in law school career services offices are varied, and many people who enter the profession don’t have formal counseling training. Yet, counseling students is one of the most important functions of law school career services offices. This session will consider strategies that career services professionals can use to promote effective counseling of students at all levels. Such topics as training new counselors, facilitating ongoing communication among counseling staff, choosing a technique for structuring counseling appointments, incorporating job search tools into counseling sessions, using statistical analysis to counsel students, addressing the needs of special populations, working in concert with other law school and university offices, including student affairs offices, and properly addressing confidentiality and other ethical issues will be covered.
